Editor's Note

Storm Agnes just brushed past us last night—Autumn has definitely arrived now, and its full Harvest Moon too. We are fortunate in Eagle to not get too blasted by the weather which other parts of the country have to endure.

There's a bit of a highlight on combatting loneliness in this issue—something which tends to feel worse in the Autumn and Winter, as nights close in and doors remain closed.

The What's On page has expanded because the weekly Coffee Stop events are included—an opportunity to meet up for a coffee and a natter in Eagle Church. Revd Andrew's letter emphasises the fact that ALL are welcome to Church. There's also the monthly fellowship lunch to be considered, whereby the Village Hall fills with chatter and bonhomie, on the last Friday of each month.

You can participate in the Craft and Chat afternoons on first and third Tuesdays, and play Bingo and Play Your Cards Right in the Struggler on Tuesdays and Sundays—so no excuse really to say that “nothing happens in Eagle”!

The Eagle Eye has benefitted once again from a generous donation from one of our local companies (Thankyou) . If you would like to sponsor an issue, please drop me a line to editor@eagleeye.uk.com

Lastly, a plea!

Please, will someone take the Eagle Eye on? It's still a valuable village resource in paper form and on the internet. The pleasure in doing it is making contact with the various groups and clubs in the village, to find out what they are doing, and celebrating it.

It doesn't have to remain in its current format—some more modern (lol) person will have good ideas to make it more relevant, and probably much better graphics skills than I have! Its not onerous, and I will hand over as much help and support as I can.

Go on, you know you want to..... :-)

Improving the cross-county health services interface

Revd Canon Andrew Vaughan recently arranged a meeting to discuss concerns raised by parishioners regarding access and provision of health and social care for those registered at Collingham Medical Centre, but living in Lincolnshire.

The meeting was attended by parish councillors from Swinderby, North Scarle, Eagle & Swinethorpe parish councils, Revd Vaughan and representatives from the Collingham health centre.

A productive discussion ensued where key areas were identified that impacted on patient care across the county border and where the interface between the service provision for the two counties needs to be improved.

A letter is being compiled to send to councils and healthcare management alike to try to suggest ways of improving the continuity of care for our parishioners registered at Collingham surgery.

To further emphasise and add impact to the letter we would welcome any personal experiences our parishioners may have relating to this topic, where patients being treated in a Lincolnshire acute or secondary care setting have had difficulties joining up this care with their Nottinghamshire based primary care service.

Any examples you wish to share can be anonymised if preferred and either sent to Revd Vaughan or a Parish Councillor to be distributed with the letter.

Our aim is to improve the integration of care across county borders to improve outcomes and experiences of our parishioners.

Please do take the opportunity to highlight any issue you have experienced, by emailing to parish.clerk@eagle-swinethorpe-pc.gov.uk or

LETTERS FROM CANON REV. ANDREW

Aug 15th

Hello

Over the last few months I have been reflecting on the whole nature of inclusion within the church. So many churches have big banners outside say “Everyone Welcome”, but so often behind that banner lies nothing but discrimination, and really only a welcome for “those who are like us”.

It strikes me that the ministry of welcome is of greater importance for village churches than those in our urban centres, as in towns and cities there is likely to be another church just around the corner.

This was then brought home both through the current book I am reading, and the recent ministers’ conference in the diocese. The book discusses how people are treated in some churches if they express doubt, often bullied into either toeing the line, or forced out. The ministers’ conference then looked at how our understanding of our humanities is changing, and how much of that leaves many of us confused. We heard of people again being bullied if they dared step outside traditional norms.

Village churches have to be a place where we accept we are all different, and that together we have to learn how to love and journey together. Often these differences are small, such as which football team, political party, type of music we like, often they are big questions, “who am I, and how do I understand myself, before God and my brothers and sisters”. We have to learn to listen to each other and offer a welcome of inclusion, not just attendance, but sharing in all we do.

In the next few months I will be asking our PCCs to look at how we clearly state that welcome TO ALL, not just a soundbite, clever meme, but in our words and actions. After all Jesus welcomed everyone into his presence.

As ever, Andrew

Hello

As I write these notes I am still celebrating Wales win over Fiji in the first round of matches in the Rugby World Cup. A game where both sides gave everything, with some big hits, tremendous tries and real sportsmanship. If Fiji had won no-one could complain.

Apart from that as we move into October we celebrate one of my favourite saints, Saint Francis of Assisi. This son of a wealthy merchant, gave up everything to follow the call of his faith. I have always been influenced by Francis' bias to the poor, but only recently picked up on more of the Franciscan approach. It is based on what is termed alternative orthodoxy. Some of that call I think our world and churches could listen to for our age. Some of the themes that have come out of this approach are:-

World focused, not churchy focus

Relationship over domination

Non violence over suppression.

All of this approach reminds us that we are connected, we are a part of the cosmos, not over and against it.

This gentle approach changes all of us.

So, as well as celebrating my wife's birthday on October 2nd, I will be celebrating all that St Francis of Assisi has given both the church and the world.

As ever, Andrew

Hello Again from Eagle School

The children have only been back at school for a couple of weeks and they have settled in brilliantly. It has been an absolute pleasure to visit the classrooms and see what they've been up to and how busy they have been already. If you have seen children heading to and from school, you may have seen everyone has brand new school rucksacks thanks to FOES – they look amazing and really shows us as Team Eagle.

Bikeability

We have already had some exciting extra activities in school for Year 5 and 6 with their Bikeability training already taken place. Learning to be safe on the road and aware of others is so important for our children's safety and their travel in and around their community as they get older and begin to develop more independence. There was A LOT of rain but Class 4 and their trainers from Outspoken

Training battled the elements and achieved their goals. The children have been given the confidence to use their cycles by developing cycling skills, creating positive attitudes towards road users and their increasing knowledge and understanding of the rules of the road. The children worked hard and certainly earned their badges – it's a well done from us!

Titivating Trees

If you ever walk near to school, you may notice that we have started the first phase of our 'tree treatments'. Our arborist will firstly look after the trees on the field, trimming and cutting them back. Then later on, work will begin in the Gruffalo Wood. Any works should not impact any areas around the outside periphery of the school, and we thank you for your understanding if any sections are temporarily cordoned off for your safety while the works are carried out and tidied up (however we don't expect this to be the case). Thank you.

Back to School ... means thinking about starting or moving school

If your child will be starting their school Reception year (aged 4, turning 5) in September 2024, applications open 3 November 2023 and need to be with the Local Authority by 15th January 2024. If you would like to visit school, please simply call and arrange a time that is convenient to you.

You can apply online at: <https://www.lincolnshire.gov.uk/school-admissions/apply-school/2>

If you have a child aged two or above, they can join Little Eagles Pre-School which is housed within the school setting offering both 15hrs and 30hrs funded provision, as well as non-funded provision and additional hours. If you require any details, wish to secure a place or be added to our waiting list, please do not hesitate to get in touch.

Finally, if you are moving to the area or nearby and looking for a new school, why not consider joining Eagle CP School where Ofsted recognise that we place “pupils at the heart of all the work we do”. This is a very important recognition as we value our “family ethos” and the positive relationships we create. We believe that is important to see our school running as it does on any day, so for us ‘every day is an open day’. Simply give us a call (01522 868354) and arrange a visit or message us at enquiries@eagle.lincs.sch.uk.

SPOTLIGHT ON EAGLE HALL

In this edition we take a close look at the structure of our village and its community. Eagle is somewhat unusual in that we have our core village centre, which is surrounded by several small hamlets, one of which is Eagle Hall.

Steeped in history, during the 12th and 13th centuries Eagle Hall was the home of the Knights Templar and Knight Hospitallers. At the time the community had associated links with the development of Lincoln Cathedral. Evidence of their preceptory still exists today, with the moat and earthworks in and around the parkland of Eagle Hall House.

There are many myths and legends about Eagle Hall, one of which is that there was once a tunnel from the Manor House to Eagle Church, however no evidence has ever been seen of this so far!

Located approximately 1 mile southwest of the village centre, Eagle Hall consists of about 20 properties which are home to about 50 residents. The age of the residential properties ranges from the 16th century to the present day; however, most are over 100 years old.

Eagle Hall House; Adding to the diversity of the community is Eagle Hall house, which is let on a long lease to a company that provides a home, care and schooling for the most disadvantaged children.

Historically Eagle Hall would have been a very busy and vibrant community with most of the residents working for the Eagle Hall Estate or its tenant farmers. Today the community is very diverse with a mix of those that work locally, to others that commute as far as London and those who are retired and choose to enjoy the tranquility of the area.

Those visiting Eagle Hall will have noticed the opening up of the views of the hamlet following last winter's hedge laying and tree planting, and as a result the much-improved visibility splays at the Eagle/Swinderby road T junction. This work is all part of an ongoing investment program into the fabric of the hamlet. As well as the refurbishment of cottages, one of the most significant developments recently is the conversion of the redundant Victorian barns at Prestons Farm into 6 high specification residential barn conversions.

Prestons Farm; The key focus of this development was to maintain and build on the properties' rich heritage. To help maintain the hamlet's historic links, Lincoln Cathedral kindly donated waste timber and stone from the fabric of the Cathedral, which was all recycled and used for the internal features.

Ever felt like you need a bit of company, someone to speak to, something new to do?

With the onset of Autumn, the nights draw in, and in a small rural community like ours, it's easy to fall into the doldrums and become a bit low.

There is a useful wellbeing resource available that has been put together for Lincolnshire, which directs you to links for support, activities, courses and other information. There is a sub-section for North Kesteven (and West Lindsey if you feel you are closer to there!).

The initiative is called How Are You Lincolnshire.

For example, the support section lists local meeting groups, NHS centres, volunteer-led listening services—all for varied wellbeing needs.

The activities section lists places to go for yoga, pilates, gyms, music groups—too many to mention here.

Fancy a short course in something completely different—there are links to local colleges too.

So—the link you need is haylincolnshire.co.uk—or search for HAY Lincolnshire.

In their own words:

“We are bringing together everything in North Kesteven that is good for wellbeing. From a friendly ‘how are you’, to activity groups and much more – it’s all about taking care of ourselves. “

The Railway Inn, Thorpe on the Hill

The last month or two has seen us make improvements to The Sidings. With a lot of help from friends and customers, we have installed patio doors to the end of the marquee, painted the floor and instead of picnic tables, we now have round tables with individual chairs. Over the next few weeks, we will lay a patio and improve the beer garden.

Get in touch if you have an event in mind! Christening? Birthday? Baby Shower?

We have been holding monthly Quiz

Nights to raise funds for a defibrillator, for use by the public. After several quizzes and 2 large donations from Hykeham Lions and 27th Thorpe on the Hill Scouts, we have been able to purchase a defibrillator and lockable cabinet. These were very kindly installed by a local electrician, free of charge. The unit has been registered and is now ready to go. We are very lucky to have great community support.

We are beginning to plan our Christmas events starting with a Christmas Menu that will be available 1st to 24th December. Disco and Karaoke in The Sidings on New Year's Eve and of course our Christmas Raffle will be up and running very soon!!
